Safety in the mountains

Preparation:

- prepare physically before your trip to the mountains,
- get information about the mountains you are going to visit (route of trails and their condition, weather in the mountains, potential threats),
- plan your routes adequately to the capacity and

- experience of all participants of the tour,
- prior to leaving get information about current weather conditions and weather forecast,
- remember that walking in the mountains alone may be dangerous, hiking in a group is safer and more pleasant,
- remember about the necessary equipment!

Always carry:

- a backpack,
- footwear relevant to the current conditions,
- clothing protecting against rain and wind,
- reserve warm clothing,
- a first aid kit,
- food and beverages,
- a map and a compass,
- a flashlight,
- a mobile phone with charged battery and recorded emergency numbers,
- in the winter period - a cap and gloves,
- for more difficult trails: an ice-axe and spikes (prior training is required).

Scan the QR code and download the application for Android System. More information about the application at:
www.ratunek.eu.

RESCUE application

Owing to the "Rescue" application, practising mountain tourism may become safer. It is the application which will identify your detailed location (based on the GPS data) while reporting an accident, if you need help. Owing to that, rescuers will know where to go in order to provide aid, they will offer help faster and more effectively!

Accommodation base

On the website www.karpacz.pl you will find the "Accommodation" tab with subpages "free places for today", "a list of IBN facilities" and "all facilities".

It is the most up-to-date and reliable base of accommodation places in our city. Facilities may be searched using the criteria: type of facility, location, allocation of the facility to IBN, possibility of online booking and range of prices.

Results are sorted according to the hour of update performed by investors themselves. After the selection of the specific item you will find basic information concerning the facility as well as rich descriptions and photos. The additional option is searching for attractions and ski lifts within the specific distance from the accommodation place.

Only such labelling guarantees that the facilities have been reported to the register in accordance with the applicable legal regulations!

Scan the above code in order to display a list of free accommodation places.
